AWA Receives Grant for Pet Clinic Equipment from ASPCA
Funds for Pet Clinic Surgical Lights

September 26, 2013

Voorhees, NJ: Animal Welfare Association (AWA) today announced that it has been granted funds for surgical lighting for its Pet Clinic.

“Our Pet Clinic services thousands of animals in our community each year, including 11,388 spay/neuter surgeries in 2012,” said Maya Richmond, Executive Director. “We do everything that we can to keep our prices affordable so that everyone can take advantage of our clinic services, but of course we need the right equipment. This ASPCA grant allows us to add crucial equipment to our facilities so that we can keep helping animals in need.”

AWA’s Pet Clinic provides high-quality care at low cost for pets, shelters, and animal rescue groups in South Jersey. The Clinic offers low cost, reduced price and free spay/neuter services to different groups, as well as provides wellness care to thousands of pets annually.
